ABOUT ME

- Registered nurse
- Assistant Professor in critical care nursing
- Canadian Nurses Foundation (CNF) scholar
- Associate editor of the journal Soins d'urgence
- Board member of the Quebec Emergency Nurses Association

CURRENT RESEARCH

The goal of my doctoral study is to conduct a multidimensional analysis of the transition of seniors from nursing homes (NH) to the emergency department (ED), by taking into account the current state of the scientific literature, the perceptions of caregivers and those of nurses.

GOALS FOR THE SUMMER PROGRAM ON AGING

I see SPA 2021 as a golden opportunity to gain new knowledge and skills in longitudinal studies on aging. They will be useful in the short term for my doctoral studies and more long term in my academic career.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

- Since May 2020, I am an Assistant Professor at the Department of Nursing of the Université du Québec en Outaouais (UQO), in Gatineau, Québec (Canada).
- Upon completion of my doctorate, I would like to undertake a postdoctoral fellowship in the study of health and aging.
- I would like my eventual research program to revolve around aging, caregivers and critical care.
